DATE: JUNE 30, 2020
TO: UNION LABOR PARTNERS
SUBJECT: PROTECTING CRAFTWORKERS DURING COVID19

As we continue to confront the COVID19 Coronavirus and keep infection cases on a downward trend, we are reaching out to trade leadership for assistance in delivering a message to craftworkers.

Union contractors are creating safe and healthy worksites by providing the best possible preventative and proactive measures including disinfecting sites; supplying additional hand wash stations and/or hand sanitizer; enforcing social distancing; gate check screening and staying on top of federal, state and local requirements, which include wearing a face covering to slow the spread.

Recently with the warmer days and the hot summer months approaching, contractors are finding it more difficult to maintain the face covering requirement with craftworkers giving pushback.

As you expect, this is on all of us to work together so that labor and management can combat the potential spread of the virus jointly and keep jobsites open.

For the safety of your union brothers and sisters, please encourage them to wear a face covering, especially when they cannot maintain a 6' distance, and follow all other protocols put in place by their employer. This highly contagious virus spreads quickly and can be deadly to those with underlying health issues, compromised immune systems and over a certain age.

We cannot stress enough...this is EVERYONE'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Thank you.
